Chapter X – Disciplinary Liability

Article 85 – Disciplinary misconduct

1. Disciplinary misconduct by officers includes:

- a) failure to perform official duties through negligence or intentionally;
- b) damage to the property of the public institution or creation of danger of such damage intentionally or through negligence;
- c) neglect and breach of ethical norms and the general rules of conduct that are intended to discredit an officer or a public institution, irrespective of whether it is committed at or outside work.

2. Disciplinary misconduct may be serious or minor.

3. Disciplinary misconduct is considered serious if:

- a) it causes the discrediting of the reputation of the person who committed the disciplinary misconduct, which precludes proper performance of official duties by this person in the future;
- b) it prejudices the reputation of the public institution;
- c) it causes significant damage to the property of the public institution;
- d) it causes harm to other public servants employed in the public institution, to third parties or to public interests;
- e) an officer refuses to undergo the evaluation provided for by this Law;
- f) a person who has committed disciplinary misconduct before, engages in disciplinary misconduct again.

Article 86 – Aim of disciplinary proceedings

Disciplinary proceedings are intended to promptly and fully detect the fact of disciplinary misconduct and determine a disciplinary measure proportionate to the disciplinary misconduct.

Article 87 – Principles of disciplinary proceedings

1. Disciplinary proceedings shall be based on the principles of the rule of law and legal reservation. No one may be subjected to a disciplinary action in contradiction to the grounds and rules determined by this Law.
2. No one may be repeatedly subjected to a disciplinary action for the same disciplinary misconduct.
3. An officer may not participate in disciplinary proceedings if he/she has personal interests and/or if there is any circumstance that may affect the solution of the case.
4. Disciplinary proceedings shall be conducted based on the principle of confidentiality.
5. A person shall not be considered as a person who has engaged in disciplinary misconduct until the decision to impose a disciplinary measure enters into force.

Article 88 – Initiating disciplinary proceedings

1. The grounds for initiating disciplinary proceedings shall be:

- a) an application of an officer or a former officer for the initiation of disciplinary proceedings;
- b) the existence of a reasonable suspicion of an alleged disciplinary misconduct;
- c) the results of a statutory audit, inspection and/or monitoring conducted in the public institution.

2. The purpose of the application specified in paragraph 1(a) of this article is to refute the disseminated information degrading the honour and dignity of an officer or a former officer.

3. If there are any of the grounds provided for by paragraph 1 of this article, the head of the respective public institution or another duly authorised person shall issue an order to initiate disciplinary proceedings, specifying the identity (if available) of the person who has allegedly committed the disciplinary misconduct, the time limits of the disciplinary proceedings and circumstances that led to the institution of disciplinary proceedings.

4. Disciplinary proceedings shall be initiated within one month after the detection of disciplinary misconduct, unless three years have elapsed after the commission of the disciplinary misconduct.

Article 89 – Unit conducting disciplinary proceedings

1. Disciplinary proceedings in a public institution shall be conducted by a structural unit responsible for the conduct of official inspections of the public institution.

2. If a public institution does not have a structural unit responsible for official inspection of the public institution or if disciplinary proceedings are conducted against an employee of that structural unit, disciplinary proceedings shall be conducted by the structural unit of the institution (superior body) exercising state control over this public institution.

3. The head of a public institution or another duly authorised person may set up an independent commission for disciplinary proceedings:

- a) if the public institution does not have a structural unit responsible for official inspection of the public institution or a superior body;
- b) by the reasoned decision of the head of a public institution or another duly authorised person.

4. In the cases provided for by paragraph 3 of this article, the head of a public institution or another duly authorised person shall define the composition of an independent commission for disciplinary proceedings by an individual administrative act.

Article 90 – Powers of the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings

1. The powers of the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall be to:

- a) collect and study information on the circumstances and related facts specified in the order to initiate disciplinary proceedings;
- b) receive and analyse written and/or oral explanations;
- c) confirm, on the basis of evidence, the existence or non-existence of disciplinary misconduct;
- d) determine a disciplinary measure proportionate to the disciplinary misconduct;
- e) fulfil other obligations provided for by the legislation of Georgia.

2. When exercising its powers, a unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall be independent and guided only by the Constitution of Georgia, this Law and other legal acts.

Article 91 – Disciplinary proceedings

1. Information on the initiation of disciplinary proceedings shall be sent to the person who has allegedly committed the disciplinary misconduct within five days after the initiation of disciplinary proceedings or after the identification of the person, except when the notification of the person may interfere with the interests of the conduct of disciplinary proceedings.

2. A unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall set a time limit for submitting explanations to the person who has allegedly committed disciplinary misconduct; the time limit shall be at least three working days.

3. If the explanations of the person who has allegedly committed a disciplinary misconduct are incomplete or require presenting additional documents, the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings shall immediately notify him/her and set a time limit for submitting additional documents, which shall not be less than two working days.

4. A unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall inform the person who has allegedly committed disciplinary misconduct of his/her rights and obligations and of the procedure of disciplinary proceedings and present to him/her case materials.

5. A unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall involve in the disciplinary proceedings any person who possesses information on the fact of a disciplinary misconduct and who can submit a written or oral explanation (a witness), except when submitting the explanation contradicts the interests of this person (witness) or his/her family members.

6. If the expected result of disciplinary proceedings is dismissal as a disciplinary measure, the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings shall conduct an oral hearing with the participation of the person who has allegedly committed the disciplinary misconduct, except when he/she refuses to participate in the oral hearing.

7. Articles 110-112 of the General Administrative Code of Georgia shall apply in the case of oral hearings during disciplinary proceedings.

Article 92 – Rights of a person who has allegedly committed a disciplinary misconduct

A person who has allegedly committed a disciplinary misconduct shall have the right to:

- a) use the assistance of a defence lawyer;
- b) request the presentation of case materials of the disciplinary proceedings;
- c) submit written and/or oral explanations;
- d) present evidence;
- e) submit his/her views in writing regarding the opinion of the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings;
- f) appeal the decision imposing a disciplinary measure as determined by law.

Article 93 – Opinion of the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings

1. After analysing materials obtained in the course of disciplinary proceedings, the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall prepare an opinion on:

- a) the existence of disciplinary misconduct and on the imposition or on the impossibility to impose a disciplinary measure on the person;

b) the absence of disciplinary misconduct.

2. The opinion specified in paragraph 1(a) of this article shall contain:

- a) the name and surname, and occupied position of the person who allegedly committed the disciplinary misconduct;
- b) the official functions and duties that the person who allegedly committed the disciplinary misconduct failed to perform;
- c) the description, time and place of commission of the disciplinary misconduct;
- d) other information on the disciplinary misconduct obtained by the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings;
- e) the relevant justification of the imposition or impossibility to impose a disciplinary measure on the person.

3. The opinion specified in paragraph 1(b) of this article shall contain information obtained by the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings and the substantiation of the absence of a disciplinary misconduct.

Article 94 – Results of disciplinary proceedings

1. The opinion of the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings shall be sent to the person who has committed the disciplinary misconduct (if any) and the head of the public institution or another duly authorised person.

2. The head of the public institution or another duly authorised person shall make one of the following decisions within seven working days after receiving the opinion of the unit conducting the disciplinary proceedings:

- a) to impose the disciplinary measure specified in the opinion or a more lenient disciplinary measure;
- b) to exempt the officer from disciplinary liability, in the case of a minor disciplinary misconduct;
- c) to return the opinion with reasoned comments to the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings.

3. If the unit conducting disciplinary proceedings submits the opinion again, the head of the public institution or another duly authorised person shall make a decision specified in paragraph 2(a) or (b) of this article.

4. The decision specified in paragraph 2(a) or (b) of this article is an individual administrative act and shall comply with the requirements of Article 52 and 53 of the General Administrative Code of Georgia.

5. An individual administrative act specified in paragraph 4 of this article may be appealed in accordance with the administrative legislation of Georgia.

6. If the existence of a disciplinary misconduct is not confirmed as a result of disciplinary proceedings, the head of the public institution or another duly authorised person shall terminate the disciplinary proceedings by an individual administrative act.

Article 95 – Time limits of disciplinary proceedings

1. The time limits of disciplinary proceedings shall not exceed one month.

2. If more than one month is necessary to determine circumstances essential to the disciplinary misconduct, the head of the public institution or another duly authorised person shall, 10 working days before the period of one month expires, make a decision to extend the time limit by not more than two months.

Article 96 – Disciplinary measures

1. Disciplinary measures shall be:

- a) warning;
- b) reprimand;
- c) deduction of 10 to 50 per cent of official salary for a period of one to six months;
- d) dismissal.

2. If an officer has committed several acts of disciplinary misconduct, he/she shall be subjected to one disciplinary measure for the more serious disciplinary misconduct.

Article 97 – Imposing disciplinary measures

1. A disciplinary measure shall be proportionate to the disciplinary misconduct.
2. When imposing a disciplinary measure on an officer, the following shall be taken into account:
 - a) whether the disciplinary misconduct has been committed by negligence or intentionally;
 - b) the seriousness of the consequences caused by the commission of the disciplinary misconduct;
 - c) whether a disciplinary action has already been applied to the person who has committed the disciplinary misconduct;
 - d) the results of the evaluation of the person who has committed the disciplinary misconduct;
 - e) the reason for non-performance of official duties;
 - f) the possibility to avoid the consequences of the disciplinary misconduct;
 - g) whether the person who has committed the disciplinary misconduct attempted to prevent or mitigate the consequences of the disciplinary misconduct;
 - h) other circumstances influencing the determination of a disciplinary measure.
3. Irrespective of whether a disciplinary measure has been imposed or not, the officer shall compensate the damage to property of the public institution caused by the disciplinary misconduct, provided that he/she committed the disciplinary misconduct intentionally or through gross negligence.

Article 98 – Dismissal from office due to a disciplinary misconduct

Dismissal from office may be possible only when a disciplinary misconduct is committed.
