

Annex – Questionnaire (Macao, S.A.R., China – CCAC / Good Practices – 13)

Measures taken to implement the Convention and the commitments contained in the UNGASS political declaration, as well as good practices and progress made in the use of international cooperation mechanisms under the Convention¹

Country	The People’s Republic of China
Implementing authority/authorities	Macao Special Administrative Region Commission Against Corruption (CCAC)
Corresponding paragraph(s) of the UNGASS political declaration and/or article(s) of the Convention	UNGASS political declaration Paragraphs 1 and 6 Continuing to gather and share good practices and enhancing efforts and resources for education and training in the public and private sectors. Promote the development of public ethics and integrity and other related programmes for public bodies, taking into consideration their institutional characteristics and domestic legal frameworks, and provide training to public officials.
Title of initiative	Education on Corruption Prevention for Public and Private Sectors
Keywords of initiative	Corruption prevention for public and private sectors
Short summary of initiative (please indicate the start date/duration if relevant)	In 2021, the CCAC held a total of 437 seminars and talks on different topics which recorded 28,720 participants who were mainly public servants, employees of private companies, ordinary citizens, teenagers and students of higher education institutions, secondary and primary schools.
Detailed description of initiative	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Seminars on integrity for public servants: To further strengthen the integrity awareness of public servants and the probity culture of public departments, the CCAC sustains its efforts to hold seminars on integrity with different topics including “Integrity and Observance”, “Noble Character”, “Public Procurement” and “Declaration of Assets and Interests”. A total of 62 seminars were held, with the participation of 2,769 public servants from 16 departments/institutions in 2021. 2. Update on the “Webpage on Information about Integrity for Public Servants” and launch of an e-learning course: The CCAC launched the “Webpage on Information about Integrity for Public Servants” in November 2020 to introduce the in-depth concepts of duty-related crimes in a simple way. In 2021, the CCAC updated the information of the columns in the theme-based webpage in order to introduce to the public servants the principle of exclusiveness as stated in the legal regime of public services and other duty-related crimes. In

¹ Please use one form per initiative described

	addition, to tie in with the trend of e-learning in society, the CCAC launched an e-learning course entitled “Uphold Your Integrity” in collaboration with the Public Administration and Civil Service Bureau. The course, which was offered in modules, explained the obligations and code of conduct that public servants should comply with, in order to enhance their sense of integrity and law-abidingness through online self-learning. The CCAC had offered two classes of an e-learning course titled “Uphold Your Integrity”, which received favourable responses and attracted 208 public servants to enrol in the course between September and December 2021. 3. Seminars on integrity for the private sector: In 2021, the CCAC organised talks for civic associations, private entities and educational institutions on the Law on Prevention and Suppression of Bribery in the Private Sector, which legal provisions were explained and discussed with actual cases and examples that were selected and/or tailor-made for the individuals and organisations indifferent fields. A total of 38 talks were held for 1,717 participants who were employees of banks, hotels, small and medium-sized enterprises and subsidised institutions.
Lessons learned in implementing the initiative	Prevention and integrity promotion are some of the main goals of the CCAC work. In order to promote integrity through all strata of the population, the CCAC organises numerous activities every year in order to promote as widely as possible the message of integrity and honesty which does not only focus on the public and private sectors but also on students, regardless of their ages or grades.
Challenges encountered in implementing the initiative	The constant need to organise and adapt to these types of initiatives in the ongoing circumstance of the COVID-19 pandemic.
Link to more information	https://www.ccac.org.mo/en/news.html